Imagine being the estate agent who's given the job of selling Home Farm – really, really hoping nobody asks what happened to some of the previous owners. “The Whites? They’re mainly dead,” would be your reply. “Apart from the young lad, the one who killed them all – he’s still around.” “And the owners before?” the client may venture.

“I’m sure Joe will break the curse!”

“Declan is on the run,” would be your response. “After trying to kill himself by torching the place.” Now you’re just praying they give up before you find yourself having to say: “Natasha and Mark? Lovely couple. She’s in prison now – for killing him. “Then there were the King brothers,” you’d continue. “All dead. Apart from Jimmy. Not that you’d notice!” But estate agents of Hotten, never fear. We’re sure that new owner Joe will be the one to break this terrible curse. Just turn to p18 and see how he’s settling in at the Dales’ house of horrors...

THE END for Martin & Stacey!

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

THE BATTLE LINES ARE DRAWN...

Stacey's return is hardly a solution in itself

Stacey returns to Walford to reunite with Martin this week – but her scorned husband is having none of it!

Still wounded from his wife's revelation that she slept with Max at Christmas, stunned Martin can't believe it when Stacey waltzes back home with the children and attempts to carry on as normal. The atmosphere is strained, to say the least, and reaches the point where neither of them can stand it a moment longer...

"Stacey dropped a bombshell on her marriage, but rather than trying to salvage what was left, she just took the kids and left," our Square source reminds us. "Martin was forced to soldier on and fend off all the awkward questions about her departure – so he is understandably vexed as she rocks up and attempts to put their broken family back together."

Stacey knows that she and Martin have a lot to work through if they are to stand a chance of repairing their marriage. But as she avoids the inevitable, making excuses whenever Martin confronts her, it's clear Stacey is still torn over whether they have a future.

After she leaves the Fowler house to collect her thoughts, Stacey bumps into Ted, who offers her some advice.

Meanwhile, paranoid Martin is convinced that Stacey has gone to see Max – causing a huge argument to kick off when she returns home.

Furious that Stacey might be doing the dirty on him once again, Martin crosses a line – and his wife slaps him! As the situation spirals out of control, Martin throws Stacey out and, with the rest of the Square watching on, announces that she's to stay away from the house and the children...

"Up till this point, Martin has dealt with the matter quite calmly – but something inside of him just snaps," reports

SCOOP

TTES? Lines... /

Everyone has had to put on a brave face during Stacey's absence our informant. "That means fragile Stacey is being pushed to her limit. She never dreamt that she might lose her kids in all of this palaver."

As stubborn Martin keeps Stacey from seeing Lily, Arthur and Hope, his former wife Sonia tries to reason with him. However, after one of the children gets into a potentially dangerous situation, Martin comes to his senses and lets Stacey have access. But that's far from the end of their feud, as he vows to fight Stacey tooth and nail for custody.

Meanwhile, Kush can't stand to see his good friends at each other's throats, and somehow manages to organise crisis talks for Stacey and Martin in the market. Predictably, though, his efforts backfire and the pair end up at loggerheads again!

It later falls to both Kush and Sonia to try to win Martin round – and it looks as though they're finally getting through to him. However, just as he gives in and allows Stacey to see the kids, her fiery Slater nature asserts itself with a plan to solve all her problems...

Will Martin and Stacey ever see eye to eye, or will the war between them escalate?

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Martin or Max?

MARTIN 85%

“She should get back with Martin... but I bet if she does she'll discover she's pregnant with Max's baby.”

“If she gets back with Max, the ratings will plummet. We've seen that story already, don't need it again!”

“She defo needs to sort her head out and get back with Martin! What she has with Martin is real – with Max it's just one thing!”

We asked InsideSoap readers on Facebook and Twitter if the Fowlers should fight for their love, or if the bond between Stacey and Max is too juicy to ignore... You have your say!

MAX 15%

“Martin should fling her out after what she's done – then she'd have to go back to Max, for better or probably for worse!”

“Max all the way – they have got chemistry she'll never have with Martin.”

“Stacey needs to separate on a long-term basis from Martin and be by herself for a bit. The only man she needs at the moment is her son, Arthur.”

Can Lachlan keep his killer secret?

HE FRETS AS REBECCA SHOWS SIGNS OF COMING ROUND...

Lachlan is beside himself with worry on the day of the funeral

Lachlan is paralysed with fear this week, when Rebecca appears to be waking from her coma – but as he lays his mum and grandad to rest, is his guilt about to be revealed?

The lad is terrified that once Rebecca is conscious again, she will expose his part in the car crash that wiped out half his family – and Lachlan can barely concentrate as the day of their funeral arrives...

“Rebecca is the only person who knows that Lachlan caused his mother Chrissie to crash the car,” sighs our Emmerdale spy. “He might have escaped the deadly accident physically unscathed, but the knowledge that he’s to blame for the death of his family members is weighing heavily on Lachlan’s mind. And if anyone else finds out what happened, his life might as well be over, too.”

It’s Lachlan’s oblivious other half Belle who encourages him to start organising a funeral for his late mum and grandfather. Since their deaths, Lachlan has moved in with Belle and the Dingles, and he’s already comfortably settling into a new family life. Which is why, when comatose Rebecca’s finger twitches and she appears to stir, he’s beside himself.

“Lachlan is on a knife edge – trapped between the hope Rebecca could pull through, and the terror of what it might mean for his future if she does,” explains our sneak. “Of course, he has no idea what Rebecca may or may not remember of that fateful day – she’s suffered a serious head injury, after all. But he’s still frantic enough to try to cover his tracks.”

“Rebecca is the only one who knows Lachlan caused the crash...”

The lad leaves the ceremony as he tries to cover his tracks

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

Disturbed by the knowledge that he left an incriminating voicemail on his mate Gerry's phone at the time of the crash, Lachlan is desperate to delete it before Gerry hears it. Gerry hasn't yet done so as he's waiting on a replacement handset to be delivered, so Lachlan is desperate to intercept the new phone.

"Lachlan flees his family's funeral and manages to get his hands on it," reveals our insider. "But his relief proves short-lived once Gerry and Belle turn up, and Gerry suggests that they listen to the message together. Has the time come for Lachlan to face the consequences of his devastating actions?"

Allison Jones

"This feels almost like a fresh start for Lachlan!"

Emily Head (Rebecca) and Thomas Atkinson (Lachlan) on the Whites' future...

How does it feel now that there are only two members of the White family left?

Emily I don't think it's really hit me. At the moment it still feels as if they are on Christmas break. They're not, though! I joined the White family when it was already set up, but they were all so welcoming. Louise Marwood [Chrissie] and I are very similar, so she became my closest friend here.

Thomas I've acted with Louise and John Bowe [Lawrence] since I was 15, and I became attached to them. So it's strange that it's just me and Emily now...

What was filming the car-crash stunt like?

Emily They put us in a thing called a gimbal, which is a piece of machinery that spins you around like a crashing car would – so there was a lot of rubber glass flying around our heads!

Thomas And our noses and ears...

Emily I think there were a couple of pound coins rattling around in there, too. It was terrifying watching the ground come close to you, but then you realise you're not actually going to hit it.

Emily, have you been having an easy time of it while Rebecca's been lying in the hospital?

Emily Everyone has said, "I'm jealous, you get to do nothing!". But it's more boring than anything. I don't think I've ever struggled so much not to move.

How is Lachlan coping, having lost his mum and grandad?

Emily Well, it was Lachlan's fault!
Thomas Yes, that's true... But he's not in a good way – has he ever been? Right after the crash he gets closer with Belle and the Dingles, and the way he sees it, he finally has people who don't see him as a freak who's done terrible things in his past. So as much as he hates what he's done and feels guilty, for Lachlan this is almost a fresh start.

Is Lachlan's first instinct that he doesn't want Rebecca to wake up?

Thomas Yeah, almost.

Emily It's actually Robert who gets most excited about Rebecca moving, because he more than anyone wants Rebecca to wake up. He's put their drama to one side, and feels partly responsible for the possibility his son could grow up without a mum.

Thomas Lachlan does genuinely care about his auntie, and she's the only family he has left. But he just doesn't want to lose everything...

Gary rumbles Bethany's secret!

IT'S GOING TO GET UGLY BETWEEN HIM AND THE CLUB BOUNCER...

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

The truth about Bethany's job as a lap dancer is exposed this week, when Gary accidentally stumbles upon the teenager's secret.

The drama kicks off after Bethany entices a colleague from the club to help her lay a honeytrap for Gary so that Sarah won't take him back. The wronged fella follows the two girls and can't believe it when they head for the seedy venue. But Gary is in for an even bigger shock as he discovers that Bethany is working there as a dancer...

"The last thing Gary expects is to see Bethany in that situation!" explains Mikey North, who plays worried Mr Windass. "It's a big surprise when he walks in and sees her scantily clad. He tries to get Bethany to come home, but she doesn't like that and wants to stay. She calls a bouncer to step in, and he does so in quite a forceful way. In fact, he goes to town on Gary!"

Fortunately for Gary, Craig – Bethany's copper boyfriend – is soon on hand to tend to him. Gary quickly discovers that Craig is aware of what Bethany has been up to, but the nasty altercation has left him in a bad way, and getting treatment is his first priority.

"Gary is really smashed up, and it's one thing he doesn't need with everything that's going on with his mum, Anna," shares Mikey. "When Gary is in hospital, Sarah comes to see him, which is very unexpected. She apologises for the fact that Gary always seems to be getting beaten up because of her family – and in that moment, things soften between them."

Although him having a one-night stand with Nicola and getting her pregnant is pretty unforgivable, there's no denying that Gary and Sarah were the perfect couple. It appears she might be willing to forgive him, much to Bethany's horror – and Mikey is keeping his fingers crossed for that reunion.

"It's a tricky one because I love Sarah and Gary together, and working with Tina O'Brien and the Platts has turned my time on Coronation Street around," he muses. "But how can you forgive someone who did what Gary did? It's inexcusable. So it's a tough one, but it's great for me that they may get back together!"

Better still, Mikey tells us that Corrie viewers are likewise hoping fervently for a Gary and Sarah reconciliation.

"People seem to love them together, which is a brilliant compliment," he enthuses.

Gary always seems to be getting beaten up because of the Platts!"

"It's a shame the perfect romance was spoilt. You can't cheat on Sarah-Louise Platt – nobody normal would do that. But Gary doesn't really do things the normal way..."

Kate White

Gary winds up on the wrong end of the club bouncer's fists...

FISTS OF FURY!

No Mikeys were harmed in the making of this episode...

Filming big fight scenes might look like a daunting proposition, but Mikey says the hard work on the bouncer vs Gary sequence mostly came behind the scenes. Instead of tough guys, it was Coronation Street's dedicated make-up team who made it work.

"It takes time in make-up to put Gary's battle scars on," reveals the star. "The initial beating took 45 minutes in the morning – so less of a lie-in for me! The team did a great job."

Meanwhile, the irony of Gary's new status as chief punch bag on the Street hasn't been lost on Mikey.

"I remember a time when Gary used to dish out the beatings, but now he seems to be taking them!" he grins. "I've done a few fights over the years now, playing the character I play – but I do enjoy them."

...but Craig's arrival prevents anything worse

FAMILY REUNION!

Mel takes her son on a tour of his past...

Here are the first pics of Walford's Mel and her son Hunter as they reconnect in the coming weeks. On screen, Mel is currently estranged from her boy as the saga of the heist continues, but our pics show Tamzin Outhwaite and newcomer Charlie Winter filming some emotional scenes together in a graveyard.

Mel is showing Hunter the final resting place of his grandmother Barbara, the mother of Mel's late hubby Steve Owen – which is the spot where vindictive Phil dumped Steve's ashes following his death! Barbara and Steve had a tumultuous relationship, with Barbara violently abusing him as a boy, and Steve certainly didn't grow up to be a saint. But is Mel giving her son the warts-and-all story of his family history – and how will Hunter react to this tortured trip down memory lane?

Charlie and Tamzin filmed big scenes for their characters

MEL WANTS MAX!

It won't be long before Mel falls for the charms of philandering Max Branning – if star Tamzin Outhwaite has her way!

The actress, who recently made her big return to Albert Square after 16 years away, called for a romance between the fan-favourite characters after the subject of Max's love life was raised by Inside Soap at a press event.

"Max could have a romance with Mel at some point, maybe," suggested the star, who's had famous on-screen dalliances in the Square with legendary characters Phil Mitchell and Steve Owen. "You've got to have Mel and Max... I'm just putting it out there!"

Tamzin's co-star Jake Wood, who plays Max, also teased that the pair might team up during a recent appearance on Good Morning Britain. When host Susanna Reid noted that Max and Mel have never crossed paths, Jake agreed that her return may well open up a new chapter for his damaged alter ego...

"It could do, yeah," he nodded. "Obviously Mel has a lot of history with Ian Beale, but who knows?" Who indeed!

But it was all smiles behind the scenes as an old fave returned...

There won't be a dry eye in Weatherfield when the locals turn out to say a final farewell to murdered Luke Britton.

Our sneaky snaps show members of the Corrie cast on location for the episode set to feature Luke's funeral, with returning star Tisha Merry reprising the role of his sister, Steph. She's joined by the tragic fella's girlfriend Alya and good friends Rana and Kate, with his garage colleagues Kevin and Tyrone also paying their respects. However, fans will have a bitter pill to swallow when they spot killer Phelan in attendance!

"Phelan will want people to think he's doing the honourable thing, so as not to raise suspicions," reports our Street spy. "But he'll be keeping an eye on proceedings..."

Steph's arrival looks set to rattle Phelan's cage – and with the police still conducting their investigation, is time running out for Coronation Street's deadliest-ever killer?

Luke's wedding nightmare!

HIS EX-WIFE ARRIVES AS HE PREPARES TO MARRY MANDY...

An uninvited guest turns up in the village in time for Luke and Mandy's wedding this week – as Luke's former wife Scarlett pays a visit!

Having tried and failed to track down the current Mrs Morgan in order to obtain a divorce before tying the knot again, Luke has decided to give up the search and risk a bigamy charge by making oblivious Mandy his wife. If it were any other day, Luke would be thrilled to have this opportunity to explain his predicament to Scarlett face to face. Unfortunately, this blast from the past is the last thing Luke needs just hours before he marries again...

"Scarlett turns up out of the blue, and Luke's main concern is keeping her as far away from Mandy as possible!" explains our Hollyoaks insider. "He should have told Mandy the truth about Scarlett the moment she proposed to him, and he's had a lot of time to come clean since then. If the facts finally come out on what's supposed to be the happiest day of her life, there's no way Mandy will forgive such a monumental lie."

Fiery Scarlett is hardly a shrinking violet, and has no reservations about filling in Mandy on her history with Luke. Desperate to stop his wedding day from descending into carnage, Luke manages to buy Scarlett's silence for a price – or so he thinks.

"All those years apart have distorted Luke's memory of his wife," chuckles our snoop. "In her own eyes, Scarlett is a woman scorned. Luke's alcoholism made her and their son's lives an utter misery. No way is she planning on letting him have the happy-ever-after he took from her!"

No way is Scarlett going to let Luke have his happy-ever-after!"

As Luke and Mandy's big day dawns, it looks as if bitter Scarlett has decided to renege on their agreement, and is lurking in the village ready to unleash hell! But Scarlett isn't the only one considering trying to halt proceedings – Luke's mate Darren is also thinking about voicing his own objection.

"Darren feels very uneasy about Luke's decision to marry Mandy," sighs our snitch. "He's the only one who knows about Scarlett, and he isn't sure if he can sit back and let Mandy walk down the aisle under those circumstances. And Mandy's feelings aside, bigamy is a crime! If Luke gets into trouble with the law, Darren would feel terrible knowing he could have prevented it. He really can't decide what to do."

In the event, Luke and Mandy make it to Nightingales and prepare to exchange vows in front of their assembled loved ones – but will the pair reach the end of the ceremony without a very big spanner being thrown in the works?

BIG DAY DAZE!

Bride Sarah has two weddings to deal with...

Any actor will tell you that wedding scenes feel odd – so spare a thought for Sarah Jayne Dunn, who is marrying fiancé Jonathan Smith for real this year.

"It's exciting and weird doing this so close to my own wedding," she laughs. "Jon always runs my lines with me, so the night before we were doing the vows, he started reading the scene and was like, 'Oh my God, this feels a bit real!'. As he was saying, 'To have and to hold...', it did feel quite strange."

While Mandy goes all-out wedding glam, Sarah reveals that her look will be different on her own day.

"I love Mandy's dress and hair, but it's not me," she tells us. "It took about an hour – a team effort with the girls doing my hair while I shoved on my make-up. But it isn't me, and I think it's a good thing that mine is going to be different."

AS TRAGEDY STRIKES TOYAH, PREGNANT EVA HAS A BIG DECISION TO MAKE...

Eva sees her baby for the first time this week, as she gets a scan at the hospital. However, the horrified look on the mum-to-be's face says it all, as she frets over whether to go through with her pregnancy...

"Eva's situation is so complicated," sighs our Street source. "She's not sure if she's ready to have children, and then there is her disastrous relationship with Aidan. The idea of having a termination isn't one she takes lightly, and the guilt of knowing it could be an option eats away at her."

To add to Eva's guilt, Toyah receives the devastating news that her and Peter's surrogate, Jacqui, has lost their baby. It's the final straw for the wannabe mum, who is desperate for a child of her own. So as Eva sits comforting her, she knows that she could be poised to give up what Toyah craves the most...

Meanwhile, Eva attempts to tell Aidan her news, arranging to meet him in the pub. But when Peter misreads an exchange between the factory boss and Maria, he reports back to Eva – who is heartbroken to think that her ex has again hooked up with his former mistress.

With that, Eva confides in Shona that she can't tell Aidan about the baby – only for Toyah to overhear them and implore Eva to keep her child.

Joe under fire!

DEBBIE SEEKS THE ULTIMATE REVENGE ON HER EX-LOVER...

Deceitful Joe finds himself staring down the barrel of a gun this week – as his vengeful ex Debbie takes matters into her own hands.

Ever since she discovered Joe's true identity, Debbie has been on the warpath and determined to make him pay. Now he's been revealed as the new owner of Home Farm, and the businessman behind the controversial golf course, Joe is the focus of plenty of anger – but he's still shocked when stalked in the woods by a mystery gunman who points his firearm right at him.

"Joe is terrified, and convinced he's about to be gunned down!" shares our Emmerdale spy. "He had no idea how violent Debbie would become when she found out that he was Chris Tate's son. The person chasing him is masked, and Joe doesn't know who his would-be assailant is. But after the fella is chased through the woods and has a bad fall, the gunman takes off and leaves him to die."

Joe is left in no doubt that Debbie means business...

...but will she really burn Home Farm to the ground?

It's the start of a terrible week for Joe when he gets a visit from Debbie at his new address. She rocks up at Home Farm armed with petrol and intent on burning down the grand estate. Debbie's fury is so all-consuming that she doesn't care about the consequences of her attack, and Joe is horrified as he arrives home and finds her there. The ex-lovers have a showdown where Debbie berates Joe for every sly, underhand tactic he's used on her. But will she really go through with her plan?

Meanwhile, Cain and Ross have caught wind of Debbie's intentions and are determined to save her from herself. They rush to Home Farm and find the awful scene, where Debbie is threatening to trigger an explosion that will destroy the estate and everyone in it. Cain and Ross do their best to talk her down, but Joe is left in no doubt that she means every word. So, when he's later accosted by the masked figure in the woods, Joe is certain that Debbie must have something to do with it.

"The gunman doesn't take a shot, but he does leave Joe in deadly peril," says our insider. "He's lying there wondering if

"The masked gunman leaves Joe in deadly peril"

he'll make it when Ross arrives. They are hardly best pals, so this might not be the lifeline that Joe needs right now. He has to hope that Ross is willing to put their differences aside and help him."

Whether Joe convinces Ross or not, it's clear that his new life in the Dales is a dangerous one. Will Debbie drive out Joe, or will Chris Tate's son and heir stick to his guns?

Kate White

TATE VISIT!

Will Joe's family be joining him in the village?

The revelation of Joe's true identity has had viewers speculating whether it opens the door to a comeback for the soap's one-time First Family.

Top of the wish list is Kim Tate, former stepmum and arch-enemy of Joe's dad, Chris. With Claire King having left her role as Corrie's Erica Holroyd last year, would she be willing to make a return as Joe's wicked step-grandmother?

Elsewhere, there's Kim's son James, who turned 21 last year. The show could do with a new heart-throb after the exits of Adam and Finn, and James would make a great partner-in-crime or adversary for Joe.

Meanwhile, there's Joe's aunt Zoe, who brought him up when they fled the village for New Zealand – but sadly, actress Leah Bracknell, who played Zoe, is currently battling cancer, so producers are likely to keep Zoe on the sidelines as the drama plays out.

Closing time for the Vic?

EASTENDERS | BBC1 THURSDAY

MICK HAS ONE FINAL SHOT AT SAVING HIS BOOZER...

It's not every day you get to kiss the Queen

Mick is adamant that he can keep hold of his beloved Vic this week – but is he living in cloud cuckoo land?

With time running out to pay back Fi the money they owe her for the freehold, Linda has resigned herself to packing up their stuff and leaving. So when Mick assures her that he has everything under control, will she be foolish enough to believe him this time?

“Let’s not forget that the Carters have been here before, on more than one occasion,” chuckles our Square snitch. “Mick was sure that he could get the money he needed from Aidan’s heist, and look how that turned out! So after he announces to his family that he’ll have the cash by the end of this week, it’s no wonder they’re a bit sceptical.”

Just how Mick is planning on coming up with such a large amount of dosh in such a short amount of time remains to be seen – but as the deadline looms, he turns to his heist buddy Vincent for help. However, it soon becomes clear that getting hold of the readies isn’t going to be as easy as Mick first thought, and he’s forced to admit he won’t be able to raise what they need to pay off Fi. So what’s next for the hard-up Carters?

“There’s nothing left for them to do except face the cold, hard facts of the matter,” sighs our informant. “Without the money, they’re going to be homeless and jobless by the end of the week. But at least they know they’ve done everything within their power to save the pub

The Carters have to face the prospect that this could be it – and at the end of the day, they still have each other.”

That will be cold comfort as the Carters’ final day at the Vic dawns and they prepare to say goodbye to the pub. So what does the future hold for Mick and Linda as they pack up?

New love for Whitney?

TIFFANY SETS HER UP WITH HALFWAY...

Whitney looks ready to finally move on from her ex Woody this week, after her sister Tiffany arranges a date for her and Halfway!

Romance has been the last thing on Whitney’s mind since her feckless fiancé Woody ditched her and ran off to Spain. Besides, she’s had bigger things to worry about since wayward teen Tiff landed on her doorstep – but now the youngster has decided that it’s time for her older sister to have a bit of fun in her life!

“Tiff has noticed that there’s a spark between Whitney and Halfway, and she reckons they’d make the perfect match,” declares our Walford snoop. “Plus, if Whitney is loved-up with someone, it means she’ll stop poking her nose into Tiff’s business! The way she sees it, this is a win-win.”

Keen to get the pair together, Tiffany arranges to meet Whitney for lunch – and when Whit arrives, she finds Halfway waiting for her instead! It doesn’t take them long to realise that naughty Tiff has set them up, but the pair decide to stay and get to know each other better.

And it would seem they hit it off, as Halfway invites Whitney out on a proper date the next day...

“As you can see from our pictures, Halfway goes all-out to impress Whitney,” grins our sneak. “He enlists Linda’s help to arrange a romantic setting at the Vic, and Whit is blown away by his efforts. He treats her like a princess.”

However, given the romantic setbacks Whitney has suffered over the past year – not just with Woody, but also with her ex Lee and father-in-law Mick – could it be too soon for her to move on to a new relationship?

It's about time Whitney found a Halfway decent lad

Scott vows to make his mum Maggie's dying wishes come true this week – but will he fulfil her final request and help her to die?

Since her sons discovered she has terminal cancer, Maggie has vowed to make the most of the time she has left, and has even written her own bucket list. However, while Scott is doing everything in his power to make his mother's last days as joyful as possible, his brother Damon takes some persuading to join in...

"The one positive to come from Maggie's illness is that it's finally opened up the lines of communication between her and Scott," explains Ross Adams, who plays Maggie's eldest. "Scott's using this time to get to know his mum, and the whole point of the bucket list is to try to pack in as much fun as possible. Damon is overprotective, though – he knows that his mum's immune system is weak, and he feels that Maggie and Scott running round the village being silly isn't helping things!"

As you can imagine, Damon is unimpressed when he finds out that his mum and brother have been arrested thanks to their high jinks! He reads them the riot act after collecting them from the police station – but soon finds himself being roped into their escapades.

CAN SCOTT HELP HER TICK EVERYTHING OFF HER BUCKET LIST?

Does Damon look like a former Rovers landlady? You Bet!

"One of the things on Maggie's list is that she'd like to see Damon in drag," grins Ross. "So Damon decides that he'll do it, and they all have a crazy night out. Damon's got a beehive and he's wearing leopard print – he looks like a six-foot-four Amy Winehouse! So for once Scott's costume isn't the most outrageous."

As you can see from our pictures, the trio have a brilliant time, and persuade Damon's girlfriend Holly to join in the fun as well. However, the night is brought to an end after Maggie takes a turn for the worse. She's already made it clear to Scott that she wants to die on her own terms, and has begged her son to help her pass away

Mel knows that Phil will want to keep his son out of danger

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Partners in crime?

PHIL AND MEL NEED TO FIND AIDAN'S CASH - AND FAST...

Mick and co are keen to get their cut of the armed robbery cash

Former foes end up reunited this week, as Phil and Mel are forced into working together to protect their kids.

Phil suspects that Ben has made off with the haul from Aidan's robbery, so when he finds out Mel is back in Walford and working with Aidan's ex Ciara to track down the missing money, he's concerned. But once he discovers that Mel's own son is also in danger because of the cash, the duo join forces to find it...

"Mel and Phil share a lot of history – and not all of it is positive!" our Walford sneak reminds us. "When she went on the run to Portugal after being arrested because of her husband Steve Owen's drug-smuggling operation 16 years ago, Phil lost the £30,000 bail money that he stumped up to have her freed. Each of them has age-old beef with the other, but needs must – and when they realise their precious kids are at risk, they decide they must work as a team in order to keep their boys from serious harm."

The pressure is on for Phil as Aidan's gang come out of hiding, seething that there's been no sign of their payout from the robbery proceeds. With Ben still nowhere to be seen, Phil questions Jay on his boy's whereabouts, and it dawns on him that his son may well have legged it with the money. Meanwhile, Ciara has tasked Mel with getting back the cash that was stolen from her van – and Phil is still weighing up his options when she turns up on his doorstep.

In an effort to take control of the situation, he threatens Mel with approaching Ciara himself. But after panicked Mel reveals the hold Aidan's ex-wife has over her, they realise that they're better off forming a united front instead...

"It's in both of their interests to resolve this predicament as quickly as possible," claims our insider. "Phil needs to keep Ben out of the frame, and Mel has to find Ciara's cash before anything happens to her son. So it makes much more sense that they put their differences to one side at this point."

Gemma's big bash!

SHE HELPS HENRY TO CELEBRATE HIS BIRTHDAY IN A WACKY WAY...

Gemma throws Henry an extra-special birthday party at the Rovers this week, but what will the snobby fraud make of her gesture?

Poor Gemma has no idea what her 'boyfriend' is really up to. For so long she was questioning what posh Henry would ever see in her, and just when she accepted that Henry's feelings for her were genuine, we discovered that the lying scumbag has been romancing Gemma so that he can win a bet with his mate!

However, with Gemma in the dark regarding his ulterior motives, the loveable rogue decides to throw herself into the task of planning Henry's birthday party. It took her a while to work out how a man who has everything would want to celebrate his big day, but after sharing her dilemma with wise Liz, she was given some much-needed direction. And it's not long before she's planning a bash that's themed around Henry's family history.

As you can see from our pictures, Gemma takes inspiration from Newton And Ridley, and the dress code revolves around the names of the pubs that are owned by the brewery – with Gemma's unusual outfit embodying The Frog in the Pond!

This is far from the sort of soiree that flash Henry was expecting – and in spite of his cruel prank at poor Gemma's expense, he's genuinely touched by the effort the kind-hearted lass has put in.

Dressing up in his sailor costume with pride, Henry cheerily stands with Gemma to replace the missing 'H' from his birthday balloons. Is he having second thoughts about his nasty trick?

Laura Heffernan

With the Walford gang baying for their wages from Aidan, and Ciara turning the screw to get the cash back herself, the clock is ticking for Mel and Phil. So can the streetwise pair manage to put their heads together and use their respective skills to keep their kids – and themselves – out of trouble with the dangerous gangsters?

Anna's trial: the verdict is in!

Innocent Anna's trial comes to an end this week, as the accused woman waits with bated breath for the jury to announce its verdict.

Anna has faced a tough legal battle, with Phelan stitching her up at every turn. Each positive seems to be countered by a negative – and the same pattern recurs when her good friend Roy is called as a witness. Anna's colleague couldn't speak more highly of her, but after the prosecution brings up the incident between Anna and her supposed victim Seb in the café, reluctant Roy has no choice but to admit that she did indeed slap the teenager.

And there's worse to come for poor Anna when Eileen stumbles across some CCTV footage in the cab office...

"The video appears to show Gary and Tim threatening Seb!" reveals our Weatherfield insider. "This is very bad news as far as Anna is concerned. Since Seb is the victim and the key witness in an attempted murder case, any evidence suggesting he's faced external pressure is only going to make Anna look even guiltier."

To Anna's dismay, the development comes to light in court after Tim is called to the stand. Although he's determined to do everything he can to secure Anna's release, he buckles under pressure when the incident is relayed to him – and Anna is beside herself as Tim confesses that he and Gary encouraged Seb to change his story. But of course, this is music to Phelan's ears...

"Phelan has no doubt that Anna is going to be sent down," shares our source. "She's always been a thorn in his side, and now that he has the murder of poor Luke to cover up as well, what could be a better time to eliminate his nemesis? He doesn't even attempt to hide his delight at Tim and Gary's blunder, and his evident joy makes Anna even more certain she's facing a lengthy stretch at Her Majesty's pleasure."

Phelan may be confident that he's won the war between them, but nothing is set in stone as the judge sums up the complex case. It doesn't take long for the jury to reach their verdict – so have they seen through devilish Phelan's lies, or is innocent Anna about to be sent down for a crime she didn't commit?

Phelan's well-orchestrated plan appears to be bearing fruit

WELCOME HOME, NICOLA!

Phelan's daughter makes a return to Coronation Street...

Phelan receives an unexpected visitor this week, when his daughter Nicola shows up.

It looked as if their relationship had come to a bitter end after Nicola learned a little about what her father is really like. In fact, Phelan was never expecting to see his pregnant daughter ever again – so he can't believe it when she turns up on the Street. What's more, she profusely apologises for ever doubting him, and begs for his forgiveness!

It's no secret that Phelan hates disloyalty, so is it too little, too late? Or is he ready to welcome Nicola back into the fold?

Out in the cold

The Dingles' demolished home leaves them downbeat...

EMMERDALE
ITV WEDNESDAY

There's another grim week in store for the destitute Dingle clan this week, as the police investigation into the recent demolition of their home suggests it was nothing more than an accident.

Meanwhile, Pollard is left red-faced when Tracy declares that a local journalist wants to interview him concerning his claim that he helped stop the diggers when they moved in on Wishing Well Cottage – when it was actually Joe's reluctant cohort Graham who played the hero!

Mortified Pollard is glad of the opportunity to escape the village when a call comes in informing him that his stepson Paul, who lives in Portugal,

Faith fancies keeping Pollard company in Portugal has broken his leg after falling down some stairs. How will he react, though, when Faith suggests that she join him?

And more importantly, for how much longer can the shivering Dingle clan cope amid the draughty rubble of their once-beloved home?

Blake arrested!

CASUALTY
BBC1 SATURDAY

Elle and Jacob are left in turmoil this week, when their son Blake is arrested for assault!

The drama kicks off after Blake stays out all night and fails to turn up to school. Elle fears something terrible has happened – and her concern is compounded when Jacob confesses that he told Blake he is his biological dad.

The pair are relieved, then, after Blake is brought in by the paramedics, who've been treating his pal Miles for a serious head injury. Although Blake claims they were jumped by thugs, his parents are suspicious – and the teen admits that he was the one who beat up Miles!

Soon enough, the police arrive to arrest the lad – but is there anything Elle and Jacob can do to keep their boy out of jail?

Masood exposed

EASTENDERS
BBC1 TUESDAY

Masood faces great shame this week – as Mick accuses him of stealing from the Vic!

The pub landlord returns from Watford and is unaware that Masood has been doing some shifts – so after he finds

Mas rifling through the stock, Mick angrily collars him. The mistake is quickly resolved, but Masood suffers more embarrassment when his job is rumbled by Arshad.

Cheeky Mas has made out that he's been working at an estate agent – so as he tries to explain, how will his uncle and Auntie Mariam react?

New guy in town!

CORONATION STREET
ITV FRIDAY

Kevin and Tyrone are on the hunt for a new mechanic this week, and are pleasantly surprised when newcomer Josh puts himself forward for the role.

Charming Josh quickly manages to impress, and bags himself the job – and the new recruit earns extra brownie points when he suggests a charity boxing match in memory of Luke. Josh has won over Kev and Ty, but what will the other residents make of him?

HOME AND AWAY
Channel 5 MONDAY

Jrene's son ends up back at the cop shop this week, when the distressed fella suffers a breakdown!

Mick has managed to alienate his mum completely after announcing that he's fighting for custody of his daughter Luc, and VJ is not at all happy when he comes back to town and hears the news.

With everyone in Summer Bay against him, Mick is in turmoil – and worse still, he can't find his medication!

Ziggy is freaked out when she finds him agitated and wandering round late at night, so calls the police. Can Mick convince them that he'll be fine once he takes his prescribed drugs?

Sheila's face in the background says it all!

Dipi takes a dip! She falls in the pool while fighting with Leo...

NEIGHBOURS
Channel 5 FRIDAY

Dipi has a furious showdown with Leo as the Rebecchi family gather for a barbecue this week – which results in the pair of them taking a tumble into the swimming pool!

Dipi is furious at Leo for giving her hubby Shane bad business advice, and as the clan get together for Australia Day, tensions boil over...

"When Leo confronts Dipi about her behaviour, she tries to avoid the conversation," explains Sharon Johal, who plays her. "But as she goes to move past him, she slips on a float and falls into the pool! Leo tries to catch her, but ends up in there with him."

Whether the mishap will prompt the pair to bury the hatchet or make Dipi even more furious with her sister's boyfriend remains to be seen – but Sharon tells us she had a whale of a time filming the comedic scenes.

"They were so much fun!" she grins. "I get along really well with Tim [Kano, aka Leo] outside of the show, so it was basically a fun time between friends, casually falling into a pool! I think it was funny for the rest of the cast to watch, too!"

Darcy seduces Jack!

HOLLYOAKS
Channel 4 TUESDAY

Darcy is in Jack's bad books this week – and tries to win him over by getting him into bed!

Kind-hearted Jack was the only one to take pity on Darcy following the collapse of her machinations – but little does he know that the master manipulator has been planning to flee town with Tom's inheritance.

Well, this is awkward

Things haven't gone to plan, though, and Darcy reckons that sleeping with Jack will smooth things over... until Tom walks in on the pair!

What will the horrified teenager have to say?

Business is booming for delighted Gina this week – but her success could be detrimental to her mental health, as she forgets to pick up her bipolar medication.

Dev has promised to support Gina as she tries to manage the difficult condition, and he even loaned her money to start up her own clothes customisation business. His faith in Gina appears to be paying off, as she finds herself inundated with new orders – but as she tries to keep on top of the work, she neglects to collect her prescription.

Nobody is aware of her slip-up until Brian – who is modelling the clothing to help out Gina – is perplexed by her erratic behaviour. Will he work out what's behind this change in her mood?

Romance for Jimmi?

DOCTORS
BBC1 MONDAY

Jimmi has his head turned this week, after his nephew Will – who is staying with him – is joined by close friend Erin. The medic initially assumes that Erin is Will's girlfriend, but given that he understood Will to be gay, it's a pretty wild conclusion to reach! Jimmi and his young relative are soon enjoying a proper catch-up, and after Will gets the impression that Jimmi might be attracted to Erin, he encourages his uncle to go for it. Is a romance what long-term singleton Jimmi really wants, though?

Pete 4 Rhona?

A twist of fate brings them together...

EMMERDALE
ITV THURSDAY

Cupid's arrow is pointed firmly in the direction of the Woolpack this week, as the locals gather for a charity date auction.

It's all Rhona's idea, as she hopes to bid on ex-husband Paddy, for whom she still harbours feelings. However, when his girlfriend Chas pips her to the post, Rhona's jealousy gets the better of her – prompting her to bid on Pete!

After winning a date with the fit farmer, Rhona decides to go for a drink with him. Will it turn out that they're a match made in heaven? Or will poor Rhona be left feeling even more humiliated if the accidental date goes awry?

Pipe down, Piper!

NEIGHBOURS
Channel 5 FRIDAY

Piper damages Tyler's upcoming court case this week, when a video of her ranting about his attack on T-Bone is leaked.

With beleaguered Tyler facing manslaughter charges, Piper makes a vlog of his

KEEP IT IN THE FAMILY

Wannabe gangster Ben swiping the loot from under the older guys' noses in EastEnders made me a little nervous. While it was fun that he got one over on them, Ben's no Phil or Aidan. I hope he's not bitten off more than he can chew – I don't want him leaving in a box!

👤 | Marion, Yorkshire

GIRL POWER

It's not often I feel sorry for the other man/woman in an affair story, but my heart goes out to Kate in Coronation Street. She is a good person and you can see the guilt of betraying Zeedan is tearing her apart. I wish Rana would tell her husband the truth so both girls can have a shot at being happy.

👤 | Sean

I'm feeling just as sorry for poor Rana – what a mess!

FAMILY REUNION

I'd love to see Peg, Eli, Mandy and Delilah Dingle return to Emmerdale. I'm sure they could stop Joe Tate's evil plans!

👤 | Matthew, West Glamorgan

Who can blame Kate for trying to do a Rana from Weatherfield?

ALL GROWN UP

What a treat having Tiffany back in Walford! She looked like a mini version of her mum in that gold bomber jacket, and she doesn't seem to have lost any of her attitude. I loved the character when she was a little girl, so I'm eager to see how getting older has changed her.

👤 | Daryl

I'm keeping my fingers crossed that her granny Carol Jackson will return one day!

IT ALL COMES OUT IN THE WASH

Karen's job interview at the launderette in EastEnders was amazing! Once she said her piece, I wanted to give her a job myself. I love it when things start to go right for the Taylor family, and I only hope Karen doesn't end up putting her foot in it again!

👤 | Mickey, Bath

I wonder where the Square's residents have been doing their washing all this time...

SOAP SWAP

EastEnders' loss really is Emmerdale's gain, as Ned Porteous is brilliant as Joe Tate! He's devious, charming and gorgeous, and Ned has really shown his acting skills after Joe turned on Charity and Debbie so horribly. I can't wait to see what he does next.

👤 | Sarah, London

I can't wait to see what Graham does next! He could well betray Joe...

Maybe Ste could shoulder some of the blame in this

MURDER VICTIM

I'm feeling so sorry for Hollyoaks' Harry at the moment. Amy's murder has ruined his relationship with Ste, left him homeless, and turned him to prostitution. What's more, he didn't even do it! When exactly is the real murderer Ryan going to get found out?

👍 | Alicia, Barrow-in-Furness

Only Ste could end up sleeping with both Amy's suspected murderer and real murderer!

NEIGHBOURLY LOVE

I'm so glad that Neighbours has returned to our screens – it was torture waiting for it to come back from the Christmas break. But how stupid was Jack, calling the cops during Mark's meeting with kidnapper Louise? Now he and Paige may never get Gabe home!

👍 | Lorna

Don't worry, Lorna – Neighbours is now on 52 weeks of the year.

Barry brightens up the place

BRING ON MORE BARRY!

I always love it when Barry Biglow pops up in Doctors – you know it's going to be a fun and hilarious episode! I wish he'd become a regular, and think he and Valerie would make a great couple.

👍 | Dawn, Derbyshire

I agree, Dawn – what a terrific character he is!

The BIG DEBATE!

PHELAN STRIKES AGAIN!

We all had a bad feeling when innocent Luke started investigating Andy's disappearance – but that didn't make his brutal murder any less shocking! Will villain Phelan ever face justice?

What a gruesome exit for poor Luke! I knew that he was done for once Phelan caught up with him, but I never would have expected Phelan to kill him so mercilessly. Whenever you think he can't get any worse, Phelan manages to top himself every single time!

👍 | John

Just how many chances is Phelan going to get before this preposterous serial killer storyline is over? He seems to get away with ruining one innocent life after another! I don't believe Eileen would have bought his lies for so long, and bringing Phelan to justice really can't come quick enough for me.

👍 | Ann Johnson, Cheshire

Wicked Phelan is even threatening to frame Seb for his dark deed...

My heart goes out to Seb, after the way Pat Phelan manipulated him into getting his fingerprints on the gun which killed Luke. And his suffering continued when he tried to get mum Abi to help him escape, and it turned out the new home she was taking them to was just a fantasy!

👍 | Stephen, Glasgow

Fingerprints or no fingerprints, how could Seb possibly be blamed for Luke's death? I know that he's terrified, but I hope he finds the courage to share what he knows with the police. He may be the only one who can stop Phelan from getting away with all this!

👍 | Flo, Dover

Well, Phelan stitched up Anna good and proper. Who can blame Seb for doing a runner?

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

PLAYING DETECTIVE

I'm sure that the cop who came to break the news of Luke's death has been in another soap. Who is he?

📧 | Susie

DC Yates is played by Kent Riley, who you probably remember from his Hollyoaks days! Kent played Zak Ramsey from 2004 to 2010 – and he's dropped his Scouse accent for the Corrie role.

UNLUCKY IN LOVE

When Aidan was comforting Maria about Luke's death in Corrie, she declared that all her exes seem to come to harm! Have all her former boyfriends been killed off?

📧 | Rob, Warwickshire

Not all of them, but enough for Maria to feel she's a jinx! Hubby Liam

Connor was murdered by Carla's fiancé Tony Gordon – whom oblivious Maria became engaged to before he killed himself in the Underworld fire. And Charlie Stubbs was murdered by Tracy when she found out about his affair with Maria. Watch your back, Tyrone!

THE BIG
interview

“My mum was beside herself when Billy fell off that cliff!”

Well, Mrs Brocklebank had better brace herself, because there's much worse to come – but her son Daniel wouldn't have it any other way...

The shock disappearance of a boyfriend and a daughter, a stabbing, a killer confession, a terrifying plunge over a cliff... that's quite some going, even in soap. So it's good that Corrie's Billy has his unwavering faith to get him through! The vicar is going to need it, as he learns Todd isn't coming home – all while sinister Adam begins to exact his revenge from the sidelines. But for cobbles star Daniel Brocklebank, the chance to put Billy through the wringer has been an amazing gift as he begins his fourth year on the show...

“I feel as though I've got to know Billy a lot better over the past few months,” enthuses the actor, who joins us for a chat between scenes. “Discovering so much about his youth has explained to me how he used religion and the Church to get himself out of a sticky situation. He was taking drugs, joyriding and holding up petrol stations, but the accident with Susan Barlow turned his life around. He took a negative situation and transformed it into something better. Unfortunately, 16 years later, it's come back to bite him!”

Indeed it has, but little does Billy realise it this week. Following his horror fall on Christmas Day and hospital showdown with Ken, Billy believes he and the Barlows have finally closed this particularly horrendous chapter. However, he's unaware that Susan's son Adam now knows everything, too – and while Adam pretends to be Billy's pal, he's actually embarking on an insidious plot to destroy Billy's life by getting the injured vicar hooked on drugs.

Mayhew and cry: Billy relies on Adam to get him some decent pain relief

“Billy is in agony and on prescription painkillers, but Adam starts swapping his pills for normal paracetamol,” shares Daniel. “It's awful because Billy can't understand why the medication isn't working. So when Adam, who he trusts, says there's a man who can get him stronger pills, he goes with it. It's the beginning of a serious addiction.”

This story gets darker still, as Billy becomes reliant on painkillers and ends up back in touch with his drug-dealing brother Lee. For Daniel, it's a chance to get his teeth into another meaty storyline – and he's keen to get it right.

“It's been an interesting story to research because the number of people who end up hooked after an injury or some other kind of trauma is much higher than I expected, as the recent story with Ant McPartlin shows,” explains Daniel. “It's actually much more common than you think. We are dealing with a real issue, one that our viewers may have gone through in some way, so we have a responsibility to get it right and do it properly. There's a long way to go, but I hope we've managed to do that so far.”

FROM PREVIOUS PAGE ▾

Sadly, Billy's addiction can only mean pain and suffering for Summer, who returns this week after being on the run with Todd. When Todd finally gets in touch, he and Billy plan to leave together and take Summer with them. But sadly for the vicar, when he arrives at the rendezvous point, Todd is gone, and Summer is waiting for him alone. It's an abrupt end to one of Weatherfield's most promising romances – brought on by the off-screen dismissal of actor Bruno Langley (Todd) from the show last year. But will Billy ever get over losing the man he loved so much?

"I hope so, because I'm of the opinion that once your heart is broken, you have a choice to make," muses Daniel, who briefly romanced his Corrie co-star Rob Mallard (Daniel). "You either shut down completely, or you let your heart heal and eventually allow someone in again. I would hope Billy might have the foresight to do the latter. He's quite romantic, and he'd love the idea of marriage, babies and a family unit. I'd be surprised if he was single for the rest of his life and went down a bitter path."

One thing Billy can rely on is the love and support of Todd's mum Eileen. She's about to face heartbreak as her marriage to Pat Phelan is shaken to its core, so can these two survivors find strength in their enduring bond?

"We are family!" grins Daniel. "I've been a part of the Grimshaw family ever since I joined Corrie, and it would take a lot to break Eileen and Billy's bond. She cares for him and Summer when he's discharged from the hospital, and they will get even closer through all of this.

"Summer brings out a different dimension to Billy – their relationship gives him a reason to be," adds the star. "Matilda [Freeman, who plays her] is awesome. The funniest thing about Matilda is I can wind her up something chronic. She thinks I am really uncool! It's just lovely to have her back."

Street fans were pretty traumatised by the horror cliff fall that almost killed Billy – but spare a thought for Daniel's poor mum, who continues to live on her nerves thanks to her son's telly antics.

"I have no idea of how Mum will cope with the painkiller story," says the actor. "I never tell her what's coming up, so she watches live as any other viewer would. There were some pictures released of me filming in a wheelchair and she demanded to know, 'Why are you in a wheelchair? You look awful!'. She was beside herself when I fell off the cliff – she screamed at the telly!"

Kate White

Eileen on you: Billy will need her help to cope with Summer

For the love of God

Daniel is happy that his alter ego is making a difference...

When it comes to gay rights, some religions have perhaps struggled to move with the times – and that's why Daniel believes a character like Billy is so important. Still, the actor tells us there's more work to do...

"Only last year, I had one vicar stop me to tell me he'd had to leave the last two parishes he'd been a part of, and had only just found a congregation willing to accept him," shares the star. "In 2018, people are still being forced out of parishes for being gay! A lot of those people who ran that gay vicar out of his parish would probably watch our show, so therefore it's important we open their eyes to the fact that you can have faith and an alternate sexuality."

Daniel reveals that he has had lots of feedback from vicars, and they are happy with how he and Coronation Street portray Billy.

"I've got several gay vicars on tap, and they've thanked us for raising awareness that it's possible to be gay and be religious," he tells us. "It's an interesting subject for me, and I like the fact Billy has remained true to his faith. I think those vicars are pleased that he's on the show."

Scarlett fever: Luke is sweating on his volatile ex's next move

“Putting me and Gary together is a clever idea!”

Luke may not be pleased by his wife Scarlett's sudden arrival, but we're loving the Noughties nostalgia actress Susie Amy brings to the role! The Hollyoaks newcomer is, of course, best remembered for playing Chardonnay in Footballers Wives – while her husband Kyle was played by none other than Gary Lucy, aka Luke. Could this casting be any more perfect? We can't wait to see the former co-stars back on screen together, and Susie reckons it's a match made in heaven...

“A lot of people really enjoyed Footballers Wives back in the day, so I think pairing us up in Hollyoaks is lovely,” says the 36-year-old actress. “Gary and I went on Loose Women together back in July, and that was when the team at Hollyoaks were talking about who Luke's wife might be. He asked how I'd feel about doing it that day

SUSIE AMY IS DELIGHTED TO BE REUNITED WITH HER FOOTBALLERS WIVES HUBBY...

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 MONDAY

Weddy, steady, go: Will Scarlett put a big spanner in the works for Luke?

Loose lips: Susie and Gary on the chat show...

...and in Footballs Wives in 2002-03

– but these kinds of ideas always get thrown about, so I didn't give it a huge amount of thought. However, the team thought it would be a clever idea, and we feel very lucky because we had such a great time working together before."

Susie is full of excitement as we quiz her about her new role – and the first thing we want to know is what Scarlett is doing in the village in the first place.

"When she finds out Luke is trying to track her down, I think Scarlett feels a little bit nosy," explains the star. "She wants to know what he's doing, and she does want to see him again. There's curiosity and jealousy over the fact that he is moving on and will maybe be happy. But Scarlett's worst fear is that Luke and their son Oliver might meet again. She's desperately trying to prevent that happening."

At first blush, Scarlett is definitely not a woman you'd want to get offside. If she has her way, Luke and Mandy's wedding will definitely not be taking place this week (turn to p14 for more)! But in spite of the hostile reunion with her estranged husband, Susie insists that there's a lot more to her alter ego than meets the eye.

"I believe there's some trouble in her head," she reckons. "She loved Luke back in the day, and I think a lot of the issues they had in their relationship were down to her. Unfortunately, she doesn't like to think she could be to blame, so Scarlett has fully placed the blame on Luke – and given her version of what went down to their son.

"There's a lot of guilt there, and you can definitely see some softness to her," continues Susie. "I think she's somebody who can put on a hard front when she's actually quite sensitive. There are a lot of different layers to Scarlett, and she's very different from the character I'm well known for!"

But how does the Hollyoaks new arrival fare against Chaddonay? She and Kyle were, after all, the Posh and Becks of the Earls Park football team, and gave us one of television's most outrageous wedding ceremonies ever...

"I don't think any character will ever be as full-on as Chaddonay was!" chuckles Susie.

"I remember having a 4am make-up call on the day we filmed her son's christening because I was having real diamonds sewn into my hair. I needed to have a security person with me, and they even had to watch me while I had a nap in my trailer!"

"Most of my Hollyoaks scenes are outside and I'm wearing a coat," adds the actress. "In Footballs Wives, they'd have sent you out in a dress and ripped that coat off you just before filming. It didn't matter what was appropriate!"

Laura Heffernan

No character will ever be as full-on as Chaddonay was!

From WAGs to riches!

Susie isn't the first Footballs Wives star to show up in a soap...

Zoe Lucker played queen bee Tanya Turner throughout all five seasons of the show. She went on to play two more characters that were as hard as nails – EastEnders' Vanessa Gold and Hollyoaks' Reenie McQueen.

Ben Price left the cobbles behind in 2017, eight years after taking over the role of Nick Tilsley. But prior to that, his first regular television role was Earls Park footballer Conrad Gates – who had a sizzling affair with Zoe Lucker's Tanya.

Laila Rouass played glamorous Bollywood actress Amber Gates, who was married to Conrad. Five years after Footballs Wives ended, Laila took on the role of Sahira Shah in Holby City from 2011 to 2012.

Ben Richards starred as Sienna Blake's husband, also named Ben, in Hollyoaks – until the poor copper was sent down for Trevor Royle's murder! Ben's Footballs Wives character, Bruno Milligan, wasn't such a nice guy...

Charles Venn – credited as Chucky Venice – was hotshot Tremaine Gidigbi in the show's last season. The actor has since starred as Kim's ex Ray Dixon in Albert Square, and now plays Casualty nurse Jacob.

Holding out for a HERO

CAN HENRIK HANSSEN KEEP CALM AND CARRY ON FOR HOLBY? GUY HENRY BELIEVES SO...

HOLBY CITY | BBC1 TUESDAY

In Guy Henry's words, "Mr Hanssen will often be seen looming in a corridor, looking severe" – which is something the role of Holby's CEO seems to demand! But there's nothing daunting about speaking to Guy, who charms Inside Soap with his wit and undeniable passion for all things Hanssen. And this week, the hospital chief makes the decision to leave...

It's lovely to speak to you again, Guy. Are you still loving Holby life?

Yes I am! I think the show is in a very good place at the moment, and Mr Hanssen has been quite busy. I've been crying, I've had to hold Alex Walkinshaw [Fletch] up against the wall by the throat – all very butch things like that. It's been astonishing.

Indeed! How is Hanssen coping in the wake of his son Fredrik's killing spree?

I think he is having a genuine emotional crisis. A friend of mine texted me to say that his mother thinks it's all Mr Hanssen's fault because he didn't give Fredrik enough attention – and I think she is absolutely right! Having said that, the blame doesn't lie squarely with Hanssen. You can't just go around shooting people, so Fredrik obviously had his issues.

This week, Hanssen reaches the decision that the hospital is better off without him. But he's not leaving for good, is he?

That's an interesting one, as I had talks with our excellent producer Kate Hall about whether he should return at all, so that his colleagues can grieve. But I think he feels that he needs to help the hospital to heal, and in the future he might want to get back to the work of being a surgeon and face his colleagues, rather than sitting in his ivory tower.

Does that mean you're going to be doing more surgical procedures?

Tall, dark and Hanssen: Will the brooding CEO ever get over his son's actions?

Look who's TARKIN!

Guy guides us through his big flight into the Star Wars universe...

In perhaps Guy's most block-busting part to date, he was never even seen on screen! Instead, he morphed into Peter Cushing's famous role as Grand Moff Tarkin in 2016's Star Wars: Rogue One...

"That was terrifying because Peter Cushing was a hero of mine," explains Guy who revived the character with the help of cutting-edge effects. "I'm not an impressionist, so I didn't want to be the tall idiot from England who let the whole film down! But it seems to have gone well."

"They called me back for a lot of reshoots, and I had to put on the head camera and all the motion control dots again. I'm happy to have done that amazing project."

As the hospital CEO, which Casualty character would you steal for Holby?

Ha ha! That lovely Michael Stevenson, who plays Iain the paramedic. He came to Holby recently and he's a terrific actor. He and Fletch work together very well, so he is welcome any time.

Hanssen has always been popular with the audience. Is he still beloved after all the recent drama?

Well, I'm such an old fool that I don't go on Twitter or Facebook. But Hermione Gulliford, who plays Roxanna, said that when she went away at Christmas to her in-laws, they were concerned about Mr Hanssen and hoped that one day he'd be happy again. It's touching that people have taken him into their hearts. He's a weird and wonderful character, and I very much enjoy playing him.

Laura-Jayne Tyler

I bloody hope not! I hate doing it – I don't think the raspberry ripple scrubs are my most fetching look, and my elbows are too skinny, so I've told the directors not to shoot them. We don't want to see that on British television, thank you very much. But no, it is always a challenge doing the operating scenes. I don't know how real surgeons cope! It makes it very difficult to use your mobile phone, you know. I've got a very sticky screen on my Samsung.

Do you think Mr Hanssen is someone you'd be friends with in real life?

Ha ha! I suppose there are bits of him that are like me – he likes having his pencils in a straight line on his desk, and I guess I'm similar to that. But he is a far more intelligent man than I am, so I don't think I would be in his orbit. I'm just an actor!

Your co-stars are forever telling us that you make them laugh on set...

Are they? Well, I've got a very funny little face. Seriously, though, they are a wonderful bunch to work with, and it's always worth the fight against the roar of London traffic when I get to the set each day. After Rob Ostlere's character, Dr Digby, died in the programme, we filmed his death-bed scene – and I had to leave the set and go and have a sob in the corridor outside. Mr Hanssen would never do that, of course, but I did and it was dreadful! I shocked myself.

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

“If Brenda knew about Bob and Laurel, it would push her over the edge!”

HER HUSBAND MAY HAVE WON HER BACK FOR THE MOMENT, BUT LESLEY DUNLOP WARNS THAT THERE ARE SOME THINGS BRENDA SIMPLY WON'T FORGIVE...

Wyatts and wherefores:
Brenda shares her concerns with Kerry

Short of a Bob: Brenda frets that her relationship may not recover

He has a track record with women that would make Casanova blush, but it was still a shock to learn that Bob had betrayed Brenda. For all his failed marriages and numerous affairs, he seemed to have found true happiness with his scatty partner – yet his recent reconciliation with Brenda would be blown apart if she discovered the truth about his other woman being Laurel! And as we settle down for a natter with actress Lesley Dunlop, she reckons their relationship is hanging by a thread...

"Brenda's trust and confidence have been shattered – she thought she and Bob were happy before all of this, and that everything was all right between them," shares the star. "She's desolate, but she never wanted to leave Emmerdale because it's the place she feels closest to her late daughter, Gennie. Bob won her back, yet even so she can't stop thinking, 'What if he does it again?'. The trust has gone for her."

Of course, it was the texts on Bob's phone from their friend Laurel that first sparked Brenda's suspicion. When she saw Laurel's message reading: 'Does Brenda know yet?', she suspected that Bob had cheated on her. Feckless Bob fessed up and managed to keep Laurel's name out of it – but should he just have come clean about everything?

"It would have been better if he'd told her the whole truth," muses Lesley, who is married to Dales co-star Chris Chittell (Pollard). "Finding out it was Laurel would push Brenda over the edge. She's confided in Laurel about Bob cheating on her and the story he gave her. Bob has lied and lied and lied, and now it will be a double-blow betrayal."

It would have been better if Bob had told the whole truth

Hope for the future: Lydia convinces Brenda to start planning her wedding

Even though she's still in the dark over Laurel, Brenda is in turmoil again this week, despite having reunited with Bob and vowed to look to the future.

"When Bob recently proposed to her on the site where they had their commitment ceremony, Brenda was delighted for a moment," reveals Lesley. "She accepted, thinking it would make everything better, but I'm not sure it'll be that straightforward. Doubts started to creep in again almost as soon as she accepted."

Indeed, after Brenda finds out Bob is not out with Daz one night as he claims, she breaks down and confides in Kerry. However, as she grows ever more determined to get the facts from her husband, will she uncover the truth about Laurel – and can we expect fireworks if she does?

"I think there will certainly be a lot of rage from Brenda – rage and fury!" predicts Lesley. "I don't think there'll be a catfight, as that's not really in the make-up of either her or Laurel."

"Personally, I'd like Brenda and Bob to be back together, but once she finds out about Laurel, I'm not sure how they could," continues the actress. "If the two of them split up, though, I'll certainly miss working with Tony Audenshaw [Bob]. I can't give anything away... but it's not going to be a very smooth path for Bob and Brenda!"

Kate White

Brenda's NEW MAN!

The quickest way to get over someone is to find someone new...

Brenda would soon have a smile on her face again if she found a new man – and Lesley reckons there are some village fellas other than Bob who'd be right up her street.

"I like the idea that Lawrence might have left his fortune to his ex-boyfriend Ronnie, and that Brenda and Ronnie could live in the big house together having a fabulous time," she grins. "They'd have a platonic but very deep friendship – just like the couple on Gogglebox who live in the caravan together!"

We'd also hope Brenda still has the potential for a sexy romance. Attraction sparks between the most unlikely pairs in soap, and Lesley has an idea that Brenda might quite enjoy being a cougar...

"I think she's one of the few women Ross Barton hasn't been with!" she muses. So come on Ross, what are you waiting for?!

Justin case:
Willow holds him prisoner

“Willow is a real firecracker!”

Summer Bay newcomer Sarah Roberts tells us why you don't want to mess with her kick-ass alter ego...

HOME AND AWAY | Channel 5 MONDAY

Watch out, fellas... There's a feisty new chick riding into Summer Bay this week, and she plans on taking no prisoners – except one!

Willow makes quite an entrance when she breaks into the garage and holds Justin hostage. And as we chat to actress Sarah Roberts, who plays the new arrival, she warns us that Willow is not someone you would ever want to cross...

“Willow is a tough cookie – she's a total firecracker,” chuckles the star. “She rides into the Bay on her motorbike and she's after one thing – she wants to find the 15 grand someone has stolen from her. She is a woman who knows what she wants and won't stop until she gets it, and that's what I love about her.”

Willow is convinced that Justin knows exactly where her money is, and he's quaking in his boots when she ties him up and leaves him in the garage overnight! But Sarah reckons that it's not just on screen that the women rule the roost.

“At the moment I am working with a lot of the amazing female actors on set,” she grins. “It's so nice to have a tight bunch of girlfriends on the show. I remember Pia Miller [who plays Kat] telling me that the Home and Away team became her family, and she was so right. Us girls hang out a lot together outside of work – we go to each other's birthday events, have girlie cheese and wine nights, and throw parties when it's someone's first episode. It's so beautiful.”

Prior to landing her role on Home and Away, Sarah had a couple of guest parts on rival Aussie soap Neighbours, including a stint playing Mark Brennan's girlfriend, Sienna Matthews. But acting isn't her only talent.

“I'm a DJ as well as an actress, so I would regularly flit between acting and DJ-ing gigs,” she tells us. “Before I was booked for the role on Home and Away, I was jetting backwards and forwards between LA and Melbourne, and I did a film with Joel Edgerton called Felony. I also worked with [American rapper] Eve, and supported the Danish pop group Aqua on tour.”

The jet-set lifestyle may sound glam, but Sarah tells us that she's more than happy to be settled in Sydney now, where Home and Away is filmed. And being in the long-running soap has fulfilled one of her childhood dreams.

“I used to watch Home and Away with my grandma when I was growing up,” she recalls. “Every Friday night, my sister and I would go round to Grandma's house, and she would cook us dinner while we watched the show. Which is why it's so exciting to have landed a part on Home and Away now – I know that my grandma would be super-proud of me because of it!”

Sarah Ellis

Willow won't stop until she gets what she wants – I love that about her

Gravely GUILTY!

As Lachlan delivers a eulogy for his family this week – knowing full well he's to blame for their deaths – he's not the first soapie to have something to hide at the graveside...

HARRY HOLLYOAKS

The dearly departed

Corpse bride Amy Barnes, who married upstanding (or so she thought!) copper Ryan Knight. But her fairy tale ended rather abruptly on her wedding night when she was battered to death...

The guilty party

Poor Harry Thompson, who'd whacked Amy over the head that night in an argument, but was managing to keep his terrible secret.

Rest in peace?

Harry eventually spilled the beans and planned to go on the run, but then gave himself up. Just a shame he didn't actually do the deed – it was Amy's new hubby Ryan who'd delivered the fatal blow and has got away with murder to this day...

The dearly departed

Ethel Skinner, Dot's bezzie mate of many decades. She celebrated her birthday in the Vic with a good old knees-up, before slipping away that night to the great pie'n'mash shop in the sky.

The guilty party

God-fearing Dot Branning, who put friendship above her religious beliefs after ailing Ethel asked her for help to die. But Dot's actions weighed heavily on her, and she confessed all.

Rest in peace?

When the police wouldn't believe her, Dot was still determined to seek punishment, and embarked on a shoplifting spree to get herself arrested. She was finally imprisoned for contempt of court after an outburst at her hearing.

DOT EASTENDERS

TRACY CORRIE

The dearly departed
Lothario bad-boy builder Charlie Stubbs who, despite being a bad man who treated people poorly, didn't really deserve to be bludgeoned to death by a rather tasteless ornament in his own living room. But terrible Tracy Barlow was never one to do things by halves – or in good taste, for that matter...

The guilty party
Having pled self-defence after convincing a few neighbours that Charlie had been knocking her about, shameless Tracy stuck to her guns throughout the funeral, secure in the knowledge that her plan had worked and she was home free. Or was she?

Rest in peace?

Charlie got justice in the end, as Tracy's defence crumbled in court thanks to her mum Deirdre, who knew the truth. But justice didn't prevail – Tracy got off on a technicality after serving just three years.

ROBERT & AARON EMMERDALE

The dearly departed
Pretty young thing Katie Sugden, whose obsession over proving her evil ex – and brother-in-law – Robert Sugden was a wrong'un ended in him lunging at her. His violent move saw her plunge through the derelict floor and to her death.

The guilty party

This one is double trouble, as not only was killer Robert full of remorse, but his secret lover Aaron was riddled with regret after arriving on the scene and helping Robert cover up the terrible event.

Rest in peace?

While the guilt reignited Aaron's self-harming, Robert was eventually caught out by Katie's husband Andy and confessed the gruesome truth. Andy responded by having local bad boy Ross shoot Robert, who managed to survive – and the pair then called a fragile truce.

RICHARD CORRIE

The dearly departed
Ditzy girl-next-door Maxine Peacock. Unfortunately for her, she was also the girl-next-door-but-one to serial killer Richard Hillman, who was planning to bump off her babysitter Emily – until Maxine arrived home early.

The guilty party
Despite having already been responsible for a couple of bumpings-off, Tricky Dickie was not a natural-born killer – and when Maxine's funeral took place, he almost cracked at the graveside. But it was the beginning of the end...

Rest in peace?

Guilt and the pressure of trying to keep his killer secrets drove Dickie bonkers – and into the canal where he breathed his last.

They ANSWER!

SANDRA MARVIN

Emmerdale's Jessie Grant

...faces your questions!

New head teacher Jessie is getting top marks from Marlon – and Sandra proves that she's a class act too, as we put her to the test with our readers' questions...

"What was your first day on the Emmerdale set like?"

It was very exciting – I'd literally found out I'd got the job the week before, so it was all quite a whirlwind. I don't think my feet touched the ground. On my first day I was filming with Mark Charnock [Marlon], Dominic Brunt [Paddy] and Zoe Henry [Rhona], and they're so funny but very professional. It's amazing to watch how they work. And I was filming in the Woolpack – the heart of the village!

Feeling charitable: Sandra is a fan of the Dales bad girl she's new there, and new to her job. She's still finding her feet at the moment, but in the near future I think she'll be moving closer, as she gets to know people more. She's certainly enjoying her time in the Woolpack, anyway!

"Would you like Jessie to get with Marlon?"

"Did you do anything to celebrate your first episode being aired?"

My friend came round with a couple of bottles of prosecco – although we didn't drink them, we just had them ready! I sat with some cushions ready to hide behind. When you see that first episode, you can't help watching yourself and being a little bit self-critical. My mum was straight on the phone afterwards. She's a massive fan of Emmerdale now!

"Would you like Jessie to make a permanent move to the village?"

It would be nice. I think she's going to be look at moving to the area because

"We've already witnessed a spark between Jessie and Marlon – would you like to see the two of them get together?"

There's definitely a connection because he always makes her laugh – they're both quite quirky. And being a head teacher, she sees his great relationship with Leo and April. She has a lot of banter with Marlon – as well as Rhona and Paddy. As for a relationship with Marlon, though, at the moment Jessie's still getting used to her new job – but you never know what might happen...

"Were you a fan of Emmerdale before joining the show?"

I've watched it more recently as my previous jobs were mostly in theatre, so I would end up recording 50 million shows and not being able to keep up

Marlon or off?: There may be romance ahead for Jessie

Uphill, down Dales: Jessie will find more drama if she moves to the village!

with everything! But I love Charity – her one-liners, her deadpan humour and sarcasm. She makes me laugh out loud. It'd be interesting if she and Jessie were to cross paths – imagine the kind of PTA meetings they'd have! There'd be a lot of sparring, but I reckon Jessie might be able to hold her own.

“Are you anything like Jessie in real life?”

We definitely have the same sense of humour. When I first auditioned, I thought it was as though the scriptwriters had already written part of me into her character – because we both do the talking first, before thinking, ‘Whoops!’ later. Jessie doesn’t necessarily consider everything that comes out of her mouth – that’s certainly a similarity we share.

“I understand you recently performed a gig in London – do you have plans to do more?”

At the moment I’ve got a couple planned, but nothing confirmed yet. So watch this space! I’ll definitely keep singing now that I’m in Emmerdale, because it’s really nice to combine the two things. There will certainly be more concerts in the future – and it’d be nice to do some up in Leeds, where Emmerdale is filmed, if I can.

“Would you like to have Jessie’s family written

Voice of the village: Talented Sandra has provided backing vocals for some big names in music, and performed solo

“What was it like singing with Kate Bush?”

into Emmerdale at some point?”

There is some scope for it. She has made no secret about her family, so you never know what might be coming up. She does talk about her son a fair amount too, so it’s a possibility.

“What was it like being a backing singer for Kate Bush?”

I’ve been a backing singer a few times, for people like The Charlatans, Liam Gallagher and Michael Ball. But the Kate Bush experience was completely different to anything I’d done before.

“What might you be doing if you weren’t acting?”

...asks reader Simon Ryder from Warrington

I used to work in an office, actually, for many years. And I love problem-solving jobs – I enjoy sorting things out. So it would likely be something that involves troubleshooting, and getting stuff sorted. A job that might make me want to pull my hair out a bit!

Family matters!

MOTHERHOOD IS A WALK IN THE PARK FOR HOLLYOAKS' JEN...

She's been away from Chester and off our screens for a while, but Jennifer Metcalfe (Hollyoaks' Mercedes McQueen) has been keeping busy. After giving birth just over six months ago to baby Daye, the gorgeous star has been embracing motherhood – and was snapped taking her little'un for a walk with her partner of four years, Greg Lake.

Yummy mummy Jen has been keeping fans in the loop when it comes to her cute bub, sharing photos of the family over the past few months.

"Every day is different being a mum to a six-month-old," she gushed recently. "Some days it's exhausting, while on others it's exhilarating. But no matter what kind of day I've had, I've never felt love like it. It's all-consuming and too much to put into words. The closest thing is to say I've been hit by the Love Bus very, very hard!"

Aw... and what an amazing mother you make, Jen!

You're a McQueen, love – don't be a dummy!

Greg got in some selfie time with Daye...

...while Jen preferred some sleepy time!

Is that really Brooke under there?

SHOWBIZ GLAMOUR!

They're up at the crack of dawn, film well into the night and face harsh winter weather on set – and now the ladies of Coronation Street have revealed a few tips on how they keep themselves looking so lovely. Snapped on set were Beverley Callard (Liz), who uses curlers to never let a gale (or a Gail!) stop her from looking her very best. Meanwhile, Street sisters Helen Flanagan (aka Rosie) and Brooke Vincent (Sophie) know the best way to perfect skin is a face mask. Don't give Phelan any ideas on covering up his crimes!

We always knew Curly would be back some day!

A DALE OF A TIME!

Celebrating the anniversary of his Emmerdale debut, the usually publicity-shy James Hooton (aka Sam Dingle) took to Twitter to share his pride at appearing in the soap for more than two decades – posting a photo with friend and on-screen dad Steve Halliwell (Zak). James captioned the pic: “Jan 10th 1995, had one scene on location at Emmerdale village. Jan 20th 2018 had one scene at the village. Both days I worked with this young man. He's got a new cap and his beard is grey, but not much else has changed in 23 years. Still love working with him!” Aw!

Making a SPLASH

Their alter egos have mixed with some slippery characters over the years, but Walford's Richard Blackwood (aka Vincent) and Scott Maslen (who plays Jack) have spent time with a different slippery species recently. Pictured swimming with dolphins in the Bahamas, Richard looked thrilled to be away from the drama of the Square – while Scott was busy doing a bit of fishing in the less-glam Thames Valley, where he showcased his absolute whopper of a catch!

Blast from the past

“By the time Steven died, I was ready to go!”

Aaron Sidwell – aka Steven Beale – has no regrets about trading Walford for Wicked...

There weren't many people in Albert Square who were sorry to see the back of scheming Steven Beale, after the truth about his brain tumour scam finally came to light. But as we catch up with his real-life alter ego Aaron Sidwell ahead of his latest theatre project, he tells us that most EastEnders fans were devastated by Steven's untimely demise...

“A lot of the feedback I had from viewers was that they felt the character of Steven had been wasted,” reveals the actor. “Personally, I didn't feel that way. For me, Steven was an impact character rather than a long-stay character – although it's always wonderful when people want more of your work.”

“By the time Steven died, I was definitely ready to go,” continues Aaron. “There was a lot of negativity around the show at the time, and my storylines did meander for me a bit in the middle. Once you know you're leaving, though, the story has drive and purpose, and the stuff I had at the end was really strong.”

Steven's exit was certainly explosive, after he became a victim of Max's plotting and perished in the fire at Beales restaurant. But while Max was ultimately responsible for the death, Aaron is full of praise for his former co-star Jake Wood, who plays the villain.

“It was brilliant that I got to do so much work with Jake towards the end,” he grins. “I think soap actors can sometimes get taken for granted, because they never leave our screens and you never get the chance to miss them. So it's great that people are now seeing just how good Jake is – I think the whole feel around the show has changed, and people are a lot more positive about it in general.”

After leaving Walford, Aaron headed out to Zurich for a stint playing Fiyero in Wicked – and begins a year-long UK tour of the musical at the end of this month.

“It's been an absolute dream to be back on stage – I didn't realise how much I missed it until I was doing it again,” enthuses the star. “As much as I loved EastEnders, I always felt like I didn't belong there quite as much as I do in this environment. Doing the same thing night after night means you get to push the boundaries a little bit more, and there's always something new to discover.”

“My character is really interesting,” adds Aaron. “Fiyero is a bit disillusioned with his life in Oz, so he goes on a journey of self-discovery – and that leads him to a dangerous place.”

With the Wicked tour running until the end of 2018, Aaron won't have to worry about being out of work for some time. And he's glad he won't have the opportunity to return to EastEnders.

“I don't think I'd want to do a soap again,” he explains. “It's a very quick way of working, and I like a bit more time to play with a role. I admire actors like Jake, Adam [Woodyatt, aka Ian] and Steve [McFadden, aka Phil] who are so instinctive that they can just switch it on. It's an incredible way of working – but it wasn't a discipline I really enjoyed!”

Sarah Ellis

Wicked* kicks off at the Bristol Hippodrome on 31 January. For tickets and additional dates, visit www.wickedthemusical.co.uk

Prince Calming: Aaron feels more at ease on the stage than the screen

BIGGEST LOSER

Aaron is putting on a charity show
this month...

Before he heads off
on tour with Wicked,
Aaron is turning his hand to producing, as he puts on a special performance of the play Loserville
at London's Garrick
Theatre on 28 January.

"I originally did the show five years ago, but unfortunately one of my cast mates suffered with depression and took his own life," explains Aaron, referring to co-star Chris
Hardman, who played
Francis in the original
West End production.
"We all wanted to do something as a company to remember him, so I had the idea of putting on this show. A big reason I took the job on Wicked was because we had January
off, so I could still do
this concert performance with everybody in it."

FROZEN IN TIME

STEPHEN MCGANN, JENNY AGUTTER AND LINDA BASSETT TELL US WHY POPLAR IS STILL FEELING THE CHILL...

The Christmas special of Call The Midwife saw the residents of Poplar battling the 'Big Freeze' that struck Britain in December 1962. You may have been expecting everything to be back to normal for the start of the new series this week, but true to form, the show has paid close attention to history...

"It went on for months – it stayed until March!" explains Stephen McGann, who plays Dr Turner. "Even the post-war stiff upper lip couldn't cope with it, and we try to capture that world. The effects are amazing – we always film in the summer, but when I first saw the street, it was stunning!"

The weather isn't the only problem facing the midwives either: with Patsy and Delia away travelling the world, and Barbara currently in Birmingham with Tom for six months, they're severely understaffed. Sister Julienne remedies this by hiring new midwife Lucille Anderson, but not only does the weather delay her arrival – her arduous journey leaves her too ill to start work straight away...

"She's a lovely midwife who comes hugely recommended," explains Jenny Agutter, who plays Sister Julienne. "But the big freeze has an effect on her."

"She was top of the year when training, so she's super-duper," adds Linda Bassett, who plays Nurse Crane. "And she does lots of background reading – but she's not bossy like Nurse Crane is!"

Elsewhere in Poplar, Dr Turner is called out to assist Ruth Gelin, an elderly woman with cancer whose home is threatened with demolition. When it becomes clear that Ruth's condition is terminal, Nurse Crane takes it upon herself to ensure that she will be able to spend her final days in the house that her husband worked so hard to buy.

"It's a brilliant story, the sort of thing that Call The Midwife can do so well," enthuses Stephen. "It's about somebody in terminal decline, but the ordinary passion of that is so profound and lovely. This is a programme about life and death and all those important things. But this portrait I found particularly well-done because it's about what we do as a TV presenter Ben Hillman picks his dream viewing...

Catastrophe

The Replacement on BBC1 was fantastic and a real nail-biter.

I enjoyed the fact that it was set around an architecture firm as well, so I managed to get my design fix at the same time. The same could be said for Mad Men – so stylish!

Catastrophe has to be my favourite comedy recently.

Sharon Horgan and Rob Delaney are absolutely hilarious – I think it is one of the best sitcoms produced in recent years. It may be because I also have a young family that I find the utter chaos so amusing!

For pure nostalgia,

I would say my favourite film is Point Break with Patrick Swayze and Keanu Reeves. It reminds me of long summer days as a teenager and killing time down on the beach.

I was spoiled for choice growing up in the 80s.

Knight Rider, Miami Vice, The A-Team, The Dukes Of Hazzard, Grange Hill... and the 90s were all Men Behaving Badly, Shooting Stars, The Big Breakfast, Friends, Bottom, and my guilty pleasure, Antiques Roadshow. All of these shows were hot topics at school the next day – except Antiques Roadshow!

My great love is architecture and interiors, but secretly I am a frustrated entertainer and singer – so if I could be in any other show, it would probably be entertainment-based. I wouldn't mind filling in for Ant and Dec, Graham Norton or Michael Bubl , should any of them want a night off!

community and how it reflects the changing world outside."

"People are changing," adds Jenny. "And there are legal changes which should help – they don't always do so, but they are there, and you'll see some of those things shifting. Of course, we're still in a time where abortion is illegal – that comes up again in a completely different way, but one is reminded that there were still fewer choices for women..."

DERRY GIRLS | Channel 4 THURSDAY

THIS COMEDY IS BRINGING US so much joy every week. It's about a group of girls growing up in Northern Ireland in the mid-90s, where the Troubles are viewed as the sort of mild irritant that make you miss a salon appointment. It's rare that we see a comedy so assured in its tone and its sense of humour right from the off, but Derry Girls seems to have emerged perfectly formed. The whole gang feels instantly recognisable, with would-be rebel Erin, sex-obsessed Michelle and high-achiever Clare – who won't let her friends get in the way of her plans for her own greatness...

UNITED FRONT

AS SPARKS FLY BETWEEN NIKKI AND AN AMERICAN DIPLOMAT, WE CHAT TO EMILIA FOX AND MICHAEL LANDES...

Regular viewers of Silent Witness will be all too aware that Nikki Alexander doesn't have the best track record when it comes to relationships, but is that about to change? The Lyell Centre's latest case involves the suspicious death of an American diplomat in London, and as they work with US Chief of Mission Matt Garcia, it seems clear he's smitten with Nikki. Could love be blossoming in an unlikely place, or is the pathologist set for disappointment yet again? We caught up with Emilia Fox (Nikki) and Michael Landes (Matt) to find out...

What can you tell us about this relationship between Matt and Nikki?

Michael It's a great episode, and there is a love story in it – but it has to do with the US Embassy and the UK Home Office and the 'special relationship'. It's a jurisdiction thing – there's a dead body that was somebody from the United States, but it happened on UK soil. From a crime story point of view, I thought that was really interesting. So they meet under fairly dire circumstances, and then they fall in love. It's part crime, and part a Richard Curtis movie! Emilia Normally, Nikki's romantic relationships end with them either dying or turning out to be wrong 'uns, and then... here we are. Michael Although there's not really a role for a love interest within Silent Witness, it's nice to sprinkle it in.

Emilia, how do you feel about Nikki getting some romance on screen?

Emilia Nikki has not had a relationship for many years, which is often commented upon. I think she deserves a little love. And I ask so often – every new series I say, "Does Nikki find anyone this year?". There is a sense that after what happened in Mexico, she's getting over the trauma of it. I wanted to find a way for Nikki to love and appreciate life – so we couldn't ignore that there was trauma to begin with, but then something happens where she meets someone and you actually see Nikki smiling!

So would you like to return to the show beyond this story, Michael?

Michael I've had a great time here. I was here in the summer for five weeks and I loved it. I've worked on a lot of shows, and I give credit to these people because it's been running for so many years, but they still care as if it's the first season. They have their notebooks out and everyone's focused and questioning the truth, and that's impressive to see on a show that's been on for this many years.

What do you think is the secret of Silent Witness' enduring success?

Michael In America, we don't do this thing where you make a two-part anything. You guys make all your own rules, which I love – to air a two-parter on Monday and Tuesday night, to engage people over two nights and they get a complete sort of movie is great. We have all the binge-watching that you guys have, but we don't have this! It's unique, and it works. Emilia I always say that when you read about a crime in a newspaper, you want to know why it happened, who did it,

Diplomatic baggage: Matt manages to get a smile out of Nikki and how that crime is going to be solved – and Silent Witness deals with that. The show has to keep up with the advance of forensic science as well, so the writers are all very aware of that. I don't think it is just a detective show like, "Where were you last night and who were you with?". It's about, as someone very brilliantly described to me, the last 10 minutes of someone's life, and what happened there. That's what we are trying to piece together.

KEEPING IT IN THE FAMILY

KIRAN SONIA SAWAR TELLS US HOW MONA'S MISSION IS AFFECTING THE SHIRANI CLAN...

NEXT OF KIN | ITV MONDAY

Mona returns from Pakistan in this week's episode, injured and furious with the British authorities for, she believes, using her to get to Danny. As Mona recovers at the heart of her worried family, we caught up with Kiran Sonia Sawar, who plays Mona's sister Ani, to find out more...

"You just don't expect huge, horrendous things like this to happen within your own family," she tells us. "They're all trying to protect their mother and do the right thing. Ani feels very protective of her nieces and nephews, which is why Danny's disappearance is such a big shock to her."

This week, Mona decides to investigate Danny's links to radical Islam for herself, and it's this domestic approach to the issue that Kiran thinks is the series' strength.

"It felt like a lot of these counter-terror shows are out there, but not many are from the perspective of the family and how the current global climate impacts them directly," shares the actress. "There are a lot of tensions that would arise within any family going through something as extreme as that. Cracks start to show and secrets start to be spilled – but this is a close-knit family and the relationships are strong."

Kiran's big break was in BBC3's one-off drama Murdered By My Father in 2016, and she says it was a life-changing experience.

"I'd only ever done one telly project before and I learnt a lot very quickly," she recalls. "I was worried about what the Asian community would think, if they'd think we hadn't been responsible with it or tackled the subject sensitively, but the response was overwhelmingly positive. It opened a lot of doors for me – I feel like I'm still dining out on the same project two years later!"

HARD SUN | BBC1 9.30PM

Although Elaine Renko has so far had a pretty hard time selling the general public on the whole Hard Sun cover-up conspiracy, some people do believe it – but understandably, those people aren't taking the news terribly well.

Some, like Will Benedetti, are too distracted by the impending apocalypse and what form it might take to focus on much else, while others have grown distinctly fatalistic. In particular, there's a former aid worker roaming London who's so sold on the Hard Sun conspiracy that he's trying to provoke God into manifesting by killing the most altruistic people he can find.

Meanwhile, Renko is furious when she discovers that Grace has been to see Daniel. And as she pays him a visit herself, he's full of questions about Hard Sun – and about his father.

McMAFIA | BBC1 9PM

The business relationship between Alex and Semiyon remains uneasy tonight, as Semiyon's fortunes are still on the up. But the two of them have very different opinions on what their next move should be – and while Alex is keen to put more pressure on Vadim, Semiyon isn't on the same page.

This is all taking its toll on Alex, who even struggles to enjoy himself as he and Rebecca make their engagement official, and then an unexpected phone call complicates things even further. Unfortunately, as Alex is called away to deal with matters yet again, Rebecca turns to Antonio in his absence.

Meanwhile, Lyudmilla finds herself unusually in a position of power, and there are major revelations within the Godman household as Masha makes a confession to Katya.

Money matters

POSH PAWN | Channel 4 7PM

We're back with Prestige Pawnbrokers tonight, for another look at what the asset-rich turn in when they need to stimulate their cashflow a bit. Boss James is in his element thanks to the arrival of an E-Type Jaguar worth over £100,000, which also gives memorabilia expert Lawrence a chance to test what he knows about cars. Lawrence's other duties include appraising some idiosyncratic artwork, while handbag expert Claudia deals with an impulse purchase.

Fun in the sun

FIRST DATES HOTEL | Channel 4 10PM

Sports teacher and single dad Darill is the first of this week's new arrivals, and he makes quite an impact around the pool thanks to his physique.

Having already "test-drove a lot of vehicles", he's looking to settle down with a more serious partner. He's been matched up with single mum-of-two Millie, whose goal is to be married with another baby by the time she's 30 – and things begin very promisingly when it turns out that they're both massive fans of rapper Nas.

Meanwhile, school science technician Ester's stay gets off to a bumpy start when she mistakes a friendly chat around the pool for her date – but things look rosier once she makes it to the restaurant and is paired with electrician Lawrence...

Back in the game

THE UNDATEABLES | Channel 4 9PM

Also looking for love tonight, albeit in less sun-drenched surroundings, we have Amber from Kent, who had to learn how to walk and talk again after suffering a major stroke eight years ago – and finally feels ready to get on the dating scene again. As she puts it: "I want to meet my Prince Charming. Or Shrek. One of those." Her hunt takes place alongside that of Nick, who has Williams syndrome, and prefers to express his feelings through music.

INSIDE THE AMBULANCE | W 8PM

Three cheers for the return of the insightful nightly series that follows the West Midlands Ambulance Service. The first call of the series sees Preet and Liam assisting Louise, who they remember having treated before for her spine disease. And on the way to hospital, a careless car driver forces Liam to make an emergency stop, which leaves Preet needing to be checked for possible injuries as well.

COACH TRIP: ROAD TO TENERIFE | E4 730PM

It's the start of a new week for Brendan's globetrotting troupe. Today's destination is Porto, where the activities include wakeboarding and breakdancing – and of course that awkward vote over who gets to stay on the trip.

MURDOCH MYSTERIES | Alibi 9PM

Murdoch and Ogden attend a fund-raising dinner where the meal is served in the dark. When the lights come back on, one of the diners is dead, with a steak knife in his back – but who committed the deed under the cover of darkness?

THE NATIONAL TELEVISION AWARDS 2018 | ITV 7.30PM

The awards show where the viewers make the final decisions returns tonight, with Dermot O'Leary once again on hosting duties at The O2 in London.

The categories have had a reshuffle since last year, resulting in the creation of the new Crime Drama award where Sherlock, Line Of Duty, Little Boy Blue and Broadchurch compete among themselves. Meanwhile, relative newcomers Doctor Foster and Liar compete with stalwarts Call The Midwife, Casualty and Game Of Thrones for the Drama award.

Elsewhere, the Entertainment award has been renamed in honour of Bruce Forsyth, and we have refused to recognise the Best Judge category this year due to the outrageous absence of Strictly's peerless Shirley Ballas from the shortlist.

Marriage guidance

INSIDE NO 9 | BBC2 10PM

While wedding photographer Adrian has devoted his life to ensuring other couples get the perfect blemish-free memories of their happy day, his own marriage to Harriet (guest star Nicola Walker) is filled with tension – not helped by money worries, him frequently being away with work, and her deeply regretted one-night stand with a colleague. And with the renewal of their vows looming, can their marriage be saved, or has the magic gone?

FRANKIE DRAKE MYSTERIES | Alibi 9PM

This new series set in the only female detective agency in 1920s Toronto is heaps of fun, and if you're a fan of the likes of Murdoch or Miss Fisher, you should check this one out. Lauren Lee Smith plays the smart and spirited Frankie Drake, and tonight's opener sees Frankie foiling an attempted kidnapping. This episode also features a guest appearance from Lewis star Laurence Fox.

HOW TO GET AWAY WITH MURDER | Sky Living 10PM

The lines between right and wrong are often thinly-drawn on this show, and that's clear tonight when Annalise takes on a case for the greater good – but soon realises it's going to be much more complicated than she anticipated.

Call The Midwife's Jenny Agutter is in Harry's kitchen – and she may need to summon the spirit of Sister Julianne as Harry's pet sausage is due to give birth. Other challenges include making a bust of Jeremy Paxman from stuffing.

On a knife edge

GIRLFRIENDS | ITV 9PM

When you hear the pitch "drama about female friendship from Kay Mellor", you don't really expect to be engrossed in a hostage situation and potential bloodshed by episode four.

But that's where we find ourselves in tonight's episode, as Gail turns up at Linda's house to find Linda and Sue held captive in the bedroom by knife-toting Carole. Carole wants Linda to write a full confession detailing how she killed Micky, and is prepared to go to any lengths to get it – but luckily Ruby overhears the commotion and slips out of the house to summon reinforcements.

In less OTT developments, Sue prepares for her age-discrimination tribunal, but isn't thrilled about the whole world knowing her private business – while Linda awaits the outcome of the inquest into Micky's death.

Guilt complex

KIRI | Channel 4 9PM

It's Alice's turn to take control of the story tonight, and once again we're treated to some revealing flashbacks, even while the story moves forward: for example, the revelation that Alice followed Miriam to Tobi and Rochelle's house, and saw Nate pulling up in his car – and feels guilty for not intervening then. Meanwhile, DI Mercer has news about the progress of the investigation that leaves Alice stunned, and she pays Miriam a visit to get some things off her chest.

A STITCH IN TIME | BBC4 8.30PM

The fashion series turns its attention to Dido Belle, the mixed-race illegitimate daughter of a Georgian aristocrat. Dido was immortalised alongside her white cousin in a portrait that now hangs at Scone Palace in Perth, and fashion historian Amber Butchart wants to find out more about Dido's elegant attire – and the unsavoury side of fashion history that accompanies it.

YIANNI: SUPERCAR CUSTOMISER | Dave 8PM

The owner of a McLaren P1 wants Yianni to wrap it in his signature colour of rose gold, but without removing any body panels, which is a challenge for the team. Also tonight, a fitness star wants his car to be well and truly 'beasted'.

THE GOLDBERGS | E4 8.30PM

The sitcom reaches its 100th episode as Adam and Jackie fall out over the shared theme for their Halloween costumes. Murray tries to share some of his 'expertise' on keeping women happy with his son – but Jackie doesn't fall for it...

A question of faith

DEATH IN PARADISE | BBC1 9PM

Faith healer Steadman King's treatment doesn't quite have the desired result, when his friend Fabienne Jordan – who was left blind by a brain tumour – collapses and dies just moments after drinking from his cup of holy water. Jack and the team suspect poisoning, which puts Steadman in the spotlight, as well as his wife Amelia and Fabienne's nephew Dashed.

"It's a pretty typical Death In Paradise plot, but there's also a little hint that we're dealing with the theme of faith generally," explains Ardal O'Hanlon, who plays Jack. "I think that's quite interesting – Jack's own faith and his own instincts are challenged during this episode."

Meanwhile, Selwyn is keen to improve the team by exploring new policing methods – so JP is given a week's trial to supervise Pico the police dog...

Brick by brick

A HOUSE THROUGH TIME | BBC2 9PM

David Olusoga's fascinating exploration of one Liverpool house's history, from its original occupants up to the present day, concludes as he brings us up to speed from 1945 onwards. It's a complicated time for the house as it goes through decline and narrowly escapes being demolished entirely, before being abandoned, only to be rescued in the 1970s and turned into a home for creative people. And finally, David meets the house's current owner, Gaynor.

THE LAST LEG | Channel 4 10PM

The passage of time is a funny thing – it feels like The Last Leg has been off the air for ages, when in fact it's only been a little over a month. So we're starting to suspect that the usual laws of time and space go out of the window at Christmas – which would explain why there's always an episode of Doctor Who on.

Anyway, the good news is that Adam Hills, Alex Brooker and Josh Widdicombe are back with a new series tonight – the 13th series, in fact, but we hope that's not a bad omen.

Between the three of them, they'll no doubt be raring to rehash all the week's major news stories and hot talking points, with a bit of help from their star guests (whose identities hadn't been confirmed at the time of going to press).

Pop till you drop

LETHAL WEAPON | ITV 9PM

Singer JoJo guest stars in tonight's episode as pop star Shaye, who narrowly survives a murder attempt that claims the life of her bodyguard (and boyfriend) instead. Not being hip enough to know much about Shaye, Murtaugh seeks daughter Riana's help in finding out about the singer, and anyone who might have a grudge against her. Meanwhile, new team member Bowman shows up on his first day with soup for everyone. We like him, he can stay...

HITS, HYPE AND HUSTLE... | BBC4 9PM

The economics of the music business have changed over the years, and nowadays an act can turn a much greater profit from touring than from releasing music for purchase. Tonight, music promoter

John Giddings reveals what goes into putting a live show together by taking us backstage on U2's latest tour, while stars including Phil Collins and Alex James give us the view from the stage.

MODERN FAMILY | Sky One 8.30PM

Claire wants to create some private space by building a 'She Shed' in the back garden, but is dismayed when the residents' association refuses. Meanwhile, Cam's sister Pam reveals a secret that leaves Cam needing therapy.

SUPERSTORE | ITV2 8.30PM

Things get political at Cloud 9 tonight when the store serves as a polling station. Amy and Jonah are unimpressed with the recommendations in Cloud 9's voting guide, so they try using their own influence on customers and co-workers...

THE MISSING GIRL

by Jenny Quintana

When Anna's older sister disappears in her teens, Anna copes by going missing too. Years later, her mum's death sees Anna return home, where she has the urge to find out what really happened to her sister.

DVD

SWEET VIRGINIA

Ex-rodeo star Sam (Jon Bernthal) lives life in a quiet town running a motel. After striking up a bond with Elwood (Christopher Abbott), he soon finds out his new friend is behind the recent wave of violence that's gripped his town.

STAR CHOICE

Amy Conachan (Hollyoaks' Courtney)

"I recently watched The Sinner on Netflix and loved it. It's so interesting how the story is told through flashbacks and without giving too much away. Also, the end came as such a shock to me. I really like that kind of storytelling, with the dark drama. Jessica Biel is absolutely amazing in it, too."

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

Perhaps Laurel should take herself off on that local history walk, to keep her from getting mixed up with another woman's husband. Then again, in Emmerdale, what gets you more in touch with local history than sleeping with Bob Hope?

Robert has a highly attuned Sense Of Impending Doom. Like when the world is about to end, and all the rats go nuts.

Mr Apoppapoodle (as Karen calls him) should stick around to ensure the Walford launderette runs like clockwork. Never mind cleaning our sheets – he can help get them dirty.

Huge congrats to Hollyoaks this week for its amazing stunt sequence, shot in the Mersey Tunnel. Major chills, spills and thrills!

You know Ben's not quite made it as a Mitchell when he's draping stolen gear around his old mum's ("Less of the old, thanks") neck. He might as well stick a bullseye on her back.

All good things must come to an end. And so, after a shooting, a brain aneurysm and 237 heart attacks, it was a 10-ton lorry that finally did for Lawrence White. We're going to miss that wonderful booming voice of his. As for Chrissie, we think her untimely squishing is a shameful waste of a classic Home Farm vixen. Still, at least the Devil has a new social secretary!

Who was more glossy? Tiff in her gaudy gold puffa? Or Keegan just out of the shower?

Baby Oliver looks at Simon like he's secretly plotting his permanent removal.

The Most Unnecessary Sound Effect of the Week Award goes to... Priya, for when she randomly passed wind during yoga practice. Not at teatime please, guys.

Shame on the journalists hounding the Street residents for the scoop on Luke. You'd never catch us doing something like that. [Picks up phone and shamelessly hounds our Corrie insider for spoilers]

Meanwhile, the women to have loved and lost Luke showed their grief in various ways...

Alya: Inconsolable

Maria: Regretful

Tracy: Mildly inconvenienced by the whole thing

The demise of Sinead and Chesney was inevitable, but even a jilting at the altar couldn't save this doomed partnership from being any less dull. Why put us through all the palaver of a wedding?
